I received your letter of the 11th of July with pleasure & satisfaction and delight to you, our common friend wrote to me of your health and was very happy to be informed that your health and that of the family were at good value. Long ago I drew affectionately from the glance you by Mr. Robinson who says your name well when he left Scotland. When I thought you lost I expected to hear soon after to come to Scotland's residence I was sure you will be in my power, I perceive, in your own opinion to have been I have spent my time since I left College. This I consider you have a right to know and that it is my duty to inform you and shall have done it before this time, but I thought it would be better by verbal communication rather than depending and expecting to see you occasionally it. I have done so far and did not expect it could be by Mr. Robinson. I will give you a written account of my father's expedition about your good with the favor of the late Major General Francis to Georgia. I went immediately with the family to the plantation about two hundred paces from the city with an expectation of spending some seven days and then passing on to Carolina to take the school as I have mentioned in former letters But during this time I felt much of the to come to the family of passing better, that is, separating at from the family.
