H. M. Havner, attorney gener Iowa, opened for the state.

"We will prove by reputable nesses." Havner said, "that c morning following the murde Kelly, while on a train between donia and Hastings, Ia., told c fact that eight persons had been at Villisca. This was before 7 c in the morning and all evidenc show beyond question that the n was not disvocered in Villisca a time and was not known until be 8:30 and 9 o'clock.

"The state will further show within a day or so after the m Kelly took a shirt and some othe ments to a laundry at Council

"The evidenc will show that the package was opened at the dry the garments were enc with blood and that an attempt been made to wash it out.

"The state also will prove th has given detailed and accurat scriptions of the scene of the and the facts are that he wa there after the discovery of the der."

Mr. Havner also said that the would prove the confession Ke said to have made at the Logan c jail a few days before the opened; that it was made of t fendant's own volition, entirely out coercion.

In opening for the defense ney W. E. Mitchell asserted th alleged confession was worthle cept as showing that the state trying to shield some one.

"Kelly was more dead than more insane than sane, after m the purported confession," Mr. ell said.

"The defendant," continued borney, "has been hounded by agents until his life has been and his mind seriously if not d ously affected. His mental m is one which would be easily ented by suggestion. The m themselves show that whoever
