Unit of Study:

All About Me!

This week the children were busy completing their self-portraits. We talked about eye color after we read a book entitled "Two Eyes, A Nose, and a Mouth". We talked about how each of us has these features but they look different for each of us. We discussed how some people have brown eyes, some blue, gray, or even green eyes. We charted our eye color and began adding this feature to our portraits.

Next week, we will explore hair color, lengths, and types.

Please send in family pictures by next week so that your child can share them with the class when begin the topic of "My Family". We would like to put your family photo on our families' board after they share. Please let me know if you need the pictures you send in back. If so, I can scan them and send home the original. Thanks!
